

copyright
Robert Etty / Simon Turvey /
poetry p f

Hoot

Breath is pushed inside the hollow cupped hands make flow through the dark a call both real and fake
to rouse an old brown owl that's still not dead,
but roosting in the hollow of the head.

Robert Etty