MAGGIE BROOKES-BUTT and JEREMY PAGE

GUEST POETS

Maggie Brookes-Butt was a journalist and BBC TV producer, now poet and novelist. Her new and selected poems, Wish, gathers work from six previous poetry collections alongside 21 new poems. Her two historical novels are published as Maggie Brookes by Penguin. As well as being a writer she is a compulsive reader, hopeful gardener, dreadful cook, besotted grandmother and she loves to swim in the sea.

Jeremy Page is the author of three full collections of poems, most recently The Naming (Frogmore Press, 2021), and five pamphlets. He has also published a novella, London Calling (Cultured Llama, 2018) and translations from the Latin of Catullus. His short plays, Loving Psyche and Verrall of the White Hart, have been performed in Bremen and Lewes respectively. He is the founding editor of The Frogmore Papers.
