

POETRY AT WARE ARTS CENTRE

“A first-class gig” – Carol Ann Duffy

At 8 pm, usually on the first Friday of the month at Ware Arts Centre, Kibes Lane, Ware, Herts.

EVENTS May 2018 – Sep 2018 (revised)

- May 4 Liz Berry – since her last visit in 2013 Liz has won more awards, published another collection, and become justifiably well-known in the poetry world. Ruth Padel described her work as “Ecstatic, quicksilver poems, ablaze with originality, curiosity, and a passion for words.” We are very pleased that she’s at last been able to make it back to Ware again.
- Jun 1 Bryony Littlefair – “An emerging poet of considerable talent” in the opinion of Robert Peake (who, himself, read at Ware recently). Bryony studied English and Philosophy at York University. Her collection Giraffe (Seren Books, 2017) recently won the Mslexia Poetry Pamphlet Competition.
- Jul 6 Ware Poetry Competition Prize-giving (free evening) – hear the winning and commended poems, followed by a reading from this year’s judge, John Greening.
- No meeting in August
- Sep 7 To be announced

Plus readings from local poets, news of competitions and other poetry events, and refreshments.

Admission £4.00 (concessions £2.50)
